Campbell's Winter Blooming

"Tournament" Sweet Peas

"They bloom for Six Months"

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS

Select an open, sunny, warm position; make a furrow where the row is to be and let water run there until the soil is DEEPLY soaked.

Let it lie for a day or two until the soil is in proper working condition, without being too wet.

Spade the soil very deeply, pulverize it and rake it level. Sow the seed two inches apart and only two inches deep. After sowing, provided the soil is moist and not too sticky, further working is not necessary until the seed is up, which takes 8 to 10 days. All you have to do later is to keep the soil loose, and when really dry down below 3 inches, give a thorough watering between the rows and farther from the plants. The main thing is to keep the base as moist as the top of the soil. This encourages the plants to send their roots deep for the moisture, and makes correct root action.

If you have sown the seed, let us say August 20th, the first flowers will appear about the latter part of October. The first flowers are always small and must be picked off. In a short time the flowers will become larger and with longer stems.

If the seeds have all come up, pull every second plant out, so that they stand at least 4 inches apart, but 8 inches apart is much better, in order to obtain extra good flowers.

Do not fertilize the ground at the time of sowing; later when the plants are up, if the soil is light it can be enriched with commercial fertilizer, old cow manure, or pulverized sheep manure. Use about 20 pounds for each 100 feet of row. After the plants have been for some time in full bloom, if necessary some cow manure liquid, once a week, can be applied.

If you keep the flowers picked closely, the vines will continue to bloom till the end of April or longer.

Sweet Peas

Campbell's Spring Blooming

The seed should be sown in the fall or before February 1st, if possible. While the growth is very slow in the winter it is very rapid in the spring, and the plants are in full bloom in May, before the dry, hot summer sets in. The seed, however, can be planted any time until April 1st, especially near the sea coast where the weather is cool and where fog is prevalent.

Sweet Peas require an abundance of water and an open location. The water, if possible, should be applied at the roots, and the vines should not be sprinkled. A trellis of brush or strings or chicken wire is necessary. The flowers should be kept gathered, since if allowed to go to seed the plants will soon stop flowering.

CAMPBELL'S TESTED LAWN SEED

The best Lawn Seed for Southern California has by repeated experiments been found to be

FANCY KENTUCKY BLUE GRASS }
FANCY WHITE DUTCH CLOVER } Ask for Prices

Our trade demands, and we see that it gets, the finest recleaned latest crop seed of these indispensable kinds. Shortage of crop and government requirements make pure seed costly.

HOW TO SOW A LAWN

GRADE the ground.

SPADE or plow it thoroughly,
RAKE the surface smoothly.

SCATTER commercial fertilizer at the rate of 50 lbs. to 1000 square feet, raking it well into the soil.

SOW the seed as evenly as possible, first the clover (one part) and then the blue grass (two parts).

RAKE the seed in gently one way, then crossways, being careful not to draw the soil with the rake (it must be held very lightly.)

ROLL the surface.

WATER with a fine hand sprinkler every night and morning, and any time of day the least dryness shows.

TO START a new lawn, September is the best fall month, April is the best spring month, any time between will do.

SEED—Be careful to procure seed only of the best quality of the variety desired; cheap grades may always be considered with suspicion. The seemingly dear is the cheapest in the end, and poor seed is dear at any price.

QUANTITY—To seed a new lawn use six or seven pounds to each 1000 square feet.

RE-SEEDING—To re-seed an old lawn use about one-half as much seed as for a new lawn.
